Maps Investigation

How do archaeological sites appear on maps? Find the archaeological sites in your area.

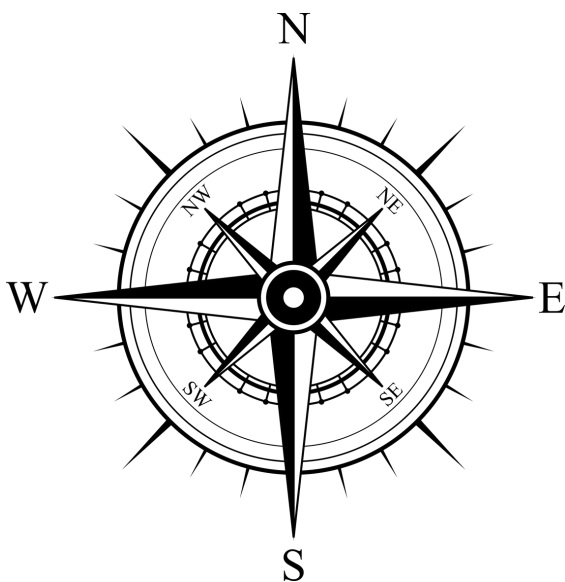

You will need:

Copies of local OS maps,
coloured arrows to stick
on the map

Method

The aim of this activity is to get the children to find as many different archaeological sites of different periods on the map as possible. Once each site has been located use a different coloured arrow for each site of a different period for example, prehistoric, Romano-British, medieval, industrial.

This activity could also be carried out on different types of sites using the same method.
